

ECHOES ACROSS THE CENTURY

31 March - 16 July 2017

World War 1 imagined

FREE exhibition

Guildhall Art Gallery

cityoflondon.gov.uk/echoes

Step into a world between the real and the imagined...

The First World War involved considerable sacrifice both on the front line, as well as at home. Guildhall Art Gallery's new exhibition explores the personal stories of those involved as they grappled with separation from loved ones and kept the country moving.

Immerse yourself in this multisensory journey that explores heritage, memory and loss. Featuring artist Jane Churchill's installation Degrees of Separation, Echoes weaves in the work of 240 students as they explore with Jane the impact of the war in this exhibition that is part created museum, part archive of dreams.

cityoflondon.gov.uk/echoes

Getting there

Guildhall Art Gallery, Guildhall Yard
London EC2V 5AE

- Moorgate, Bank, Mansion House & St Paul's
- Cannon Street, Moorgate, Liverpool Street, City Thameslink & Blackfriars

Find out more about travel in London by visiting the Transport for London website tfl.gov.uk/plan-a-journey/

For more to do and see in the Square Mile: visiththecity.co.uk

Echoes Across the Century is conceived and delivered by Jane Churchill and Alison Truphet for Livery Schools Link in partnership with Guildhall Art Gallery. It is funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund.

Follow Guildhall Art Gallery

@GuildhallArt /visiththecity /GuildhallArtGallery

FREE admission

Opening

Mon-Sat, 10am-5pm
Sun, 12-4pm

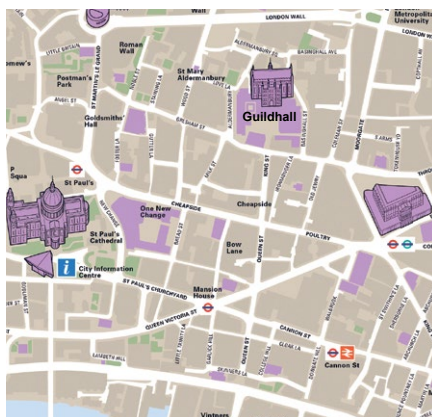

Lunchtime artist talks

20, 26 April, 10, 23 May & 7 July, 1-2pm

Pop in workshop

9 May and 14 June

FREE - to reserve a place visit cityoflondon.gov.uk/echoes

Livery
Schools
Link

heritage lottery fund
LOTTERY FUNDED